

Johnson & Johnson Issues Statement on October 8 Verdict in Georgia

October 8, 2019

New Brunswick, NJ - We sympathize with anyone suffering from cancer, and we understand patients and their families are seeking answers. We are grateful to the jury for their time and believe this outcome reflects the diligent review by the jurors of the facts in this case. We look forward to a new trial to present our defense, which rests on decades of independent, non-litigation driven scientific evaluations, none of which have found that Johnson's Baby Powder causes cancer.
